DETAILED ACTION

The finality of the rejection made July 8, 2004 is hereby withdrawn. The applicant's response filed 10/7/04 has overcome the rejection. A non-final action on the merits follows.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 8-12, 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Weisman, II et al..

The patent to Weisman, II et al. discloses an engine control module 20 that is a computer with microprocessor 24 and Rom 28 and Ram 26 to record data and output it to user interface 34 at a later time or present time. The controller 20 controls fuel injectors 40 and thus fuel supply and the sensors 42 include speed sensors. The speed is recorded to optimize fuel economy as described in columns 7 and 8. The data from the sensors is recorded in a continuous time series manner and includes the engine parameters, as described in the abstract.

Art Unit: 3661

Claims 5-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 13 and 14 are allowed.
